Linda/Mark,

I just wanted to drop you a line and point out that I believe your proposed NDM Profiling and Capacity Estimation Algorithms for 2010/11, as has been discussed at length at various DESC meetings, are unsatisfactory and suffers from two main shortcomings namely:

- 1- The treatment of seasonal normal weather.
- 2-The lack of appropriate holiday reductions.

In the case of holiday effect, despite the fact that this was pointed out to you many months ago to allow you the necessary time to correct for this, it was left undone. I hope the coming year would be the beginning of closer cooperation.

Regards,
