GS(M)R Review Update

- The IGEM Gas Quality Working Group has now completed its review of all consultation comments in respect of the draft IGEM gas quality standard
- No changes to the draft gas quality specification have been made
- Some changes to the wording within the standard have been agreed
- It will remain as a draft standard pending the conclusion of the HSE impact assessment and consultation which is currently scheduled for publication in June 2021
- Subject to the HSE impact assessment, the draft standard then pass through IGEM's internal governance process to become an approved standard
